Happy Mother's Day

From the Desk of the President

“Happy Mother’s Day”

I would like to thank Steve Branch and Georgina Brown for their presentation of remodeling a church into their home and business. You are making great progress in the remodel and we look forward to the second presentation on the finish of your new home. Good luck to both of you. We look forward to you attending our meetings once again on your return to California in January.

This month Rudy Perez is making a presentation on Henry Ford’s Lieutenants. Some more of the back ground of our dear Automobile inventor who powered our wheels that was not back braking to get us from point A to point B. With Rudy’s charisma of storytelling I am sure all will be looking forward to his presentation.

Thank you to all the committee’s on your reports and keeping us informed of all that you are doing for our club. Keep up the great work!!

It has come to my attention that we need an election committee by October to be ready for the year 2020. I am in hopes that there will be a few members to take up this committee.

Thank you,

Patsy

(AND NOW for THE REST OF THE STORY)

The Care and preservation of Historic motorized Vehicles

By Malcom Collum, Senior Conservator, The Henry Ford

PROTECT INTERIORS Light levels should be kept at a level (50 lux) that will protect the most sensitive organic material of the interior. Lights should be turned off when no one is present. Keep doors closed and locked to reduce the chances of an insect or rodent infestation and to keep out inquisitive visitors who may damage fragile upholstery or may be seeking a souvenir knob or emblem. Keep a “sticky trap” under a seat to monitor infestations. Good housekeeping and monitoring are the best pest control methods. Do not reupholster a vehicle that has its original upholstery. It may be the only existing example left and early fabrics and leathers are difficult to match. Slipcovers can greatly improve appearances and are usually unnoticed by the average visitor.

PROTECT AND MAINTAIN PAINTED SURFACES Cover vehicles in storage with a breathable, water-resistant cover. Vehicles on exhibit should be dusted as needed. Remove grime with a nonionic detergent such as Orvus. Oxidation can be carefully removed from painted surfaces with very gentle polishes such as those designed for polishing Plexiglas™. Remember that every time the paint gets polished, some of it is removed, which slowly destroys its main function as protector of the material below. Eventually, the destruction of the paint will make repainting justified. Repainting is the most common method of making a vehicle “exhibitable” and this can often be justified if the current paint layer dates from a period after its historic association or if the current paint layer is badly degraded and exposing bare metal surfaces. Original paint surfaces that are uniquely decorative or decaled should always be preserved.

SAFETY PRECAUTIONS Obtain Material Safety Data Sheets (MSDS) for all of the materials mentioned above and carefully follow the handling recommendations. Gasoline and used motor oil are particularly hazardous so measures should be taken to prevent skin contact or inhalation of vapors. Use appropriate gloves and a fitted respirator with a filter approved for organic vapors. All waste materials should be disposed of in accordance with local guidelines; however, most local service stations are willing to accept small amounts of waste for a small fee.

The general public is growing to appreciate original, unrestored vehicles. In recent years, a “Preservation Class” has been added to most of the prestigious car shows. Once a vehicle has been restored its historic value (defined by level of authenticity—not original specification) has been compromised. Vehicles that are still in mostly original condition are becoming harder to find. This implies that their historic and monetary value will only continue to rise. Some of the procedures described above can be tedious, but they are essential steps that must be taken in order to preserve the materials, the intended function and the “value” of the vehicle.

Jack & Missi Kay Story of the "29"

In January we were invited to showcase our latest acquisition at the 70th Annual Grand National Roadster Show in Pomona. She was proudly parked at the main entrance to Building 9 for all to appreciate how a 1929 Model A Ford Roadster looked when it rolled off the production line. For those who were unable to attend I will take a moment to explain the significance of Building 9. It is the building which features the "car year" exhibits - this year it was the 1929 Roadster and had 70 fully customized street rods on display. Let it suffice to say these are definitely not daily drivers!

All antique car owners will have to agree that every one of their treasures has a unique past and the road to ownership can be equally as unusual. Last April we loaded up my bright yellow 1955 "Jack just restored" M38A1 Jeep and headed for our home on Cape Cod. Little did we know that the trailer would be coming back to California loaded as well! About a week before Mother's Day I happened to notice an ad for a 1929 Model A in the local newspaper and called the telephone number to see if it was still available. Not only was it still available it was less than six miles from our house! We set up a meeting time and headed on over to see the old girl. No matter how many times I told myself I was not going to fall in love with this car it obviously fell on my own deaf ears as I said those three magical words "I'll take her" within 30 minutes of getting to his house. Feeling that his '29 was going to an adoring family the owner shared her history. He had originally purchased the car in Oklahoma in 2001 and transported it to his home in Sandwich, MA. For the next 10 years he drove the Roadster (with his kids in the rumble seat) in the Barnstable July 4th parade as well as other Cape Cod events. His job eventually required he and his family to relocate to Texas however the '29 remained in storage in Sandwich. After eight years on non-use he decided it was time to part with his treasure which is now part of the Kay family.

I would like to extend a very special thank you to Rudy Perez for tuning her so that she now has the proper "chatter" and to Bill Monteleone for restoring her trunk rack including new wood graining. He also spent many days in the shop helping to pick up all the minor issues from storage. Additionally, Bill helped getting her up to the Show and back home safely.

ALL ABOUT TOURS by Jay and Janet Harris

It couldn't have been a more perfect day! Bright sunshine, warm temperatures, and leisurely driving added up to a delightful April tour. Although a record 41 members originally signed up, 34 actually joined the tour - 2 reluctantly had to cancel, and another 5 were simply no-shows. Our first stop was at the Tekila Cocina Mexicana restaurant in Bonsall, where most folks enjoyed an early lunch. Then it was off to the Canine Companions for Independence facility in Oceanside where dogs are trained in the art of attending to the needs of physically challenged individuals. We were treated to a demonstration by 'Daniel', a wheel chair bound young man who showed us his dog's ability to pick up a dropped cell phone, open a refrigerator door, or assist in removing his jacket! Fascinating ! The building containing overnight accommodations for those individuals to use while learning how to benefit from their canine 'friend' was donated by best selling author Dean Koontz.

Following our heart warming visit to the training center we made our way to the home of new members Dave and Lisa Simard, who live on a ranch in Vista. They had invited everybody to come by for desserts, soft drinks, and conversation, and most members gratefully accepted. Dave has a large, modern barn in which many varieties of - you guessed it - vintage iron, are stored. A great place for the guys to kick tires. As 4:00 pm approached, we all headed for home. Those attending were:

Ted & Dory Thompson, and riders Tom and Debbie Brumley from Ohio
Jay & Janet Harris, with riders Clyde and Gail Bangiola from Cottonwood, Arizona
Bob and Letrice Davis, Frank and Irene Griffin, Ron & Marty Hopwood, and rider Bob Gary & Theresa Huckins, Tom & Barbara Keck, Gregg & Linda Lowry, with rider Peggy Petrucci, Judd Lynn & Masako Luts, Dave & Lisa Simard, Bob & Sharon Mc Clelland
Jerry & Roxie Otteson, Tom & Patsy Hamlin, Dan & Bonnie Krehbiel

Happy touring!!
Jay and Janet Harris

PS Because we'll be hosting the HARRIS TOUR up iconic Hwy 1 in May, there will be no local tour next month. Stay tuned for something new in June!
